RULES AND REGULATIONS

FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE

Republican State Committee OF NEW JERSEY

—o—

ARTICLE I.

MEMBERSHIP.

Under the rules of the Republican Party in New Jersey, the State Committee consists of

- (1) Regular Members.
- (2) Four Members-at-Large.
- (3) Auxiliary Members, when so ordered by the Committee.

The regular membership consists of two representatives from each of the counties of Essex and Hudson and one representative from each of the other counties. These members are elected by the county delegations to the State convention called for the purpose of selecting delegates to the national convention, and serve for a term of four years.

The Members-at-Large are appointed by the Chairman of the Convention called to nominate the Republican Candidate for Governor, after consultation with the Candidate, and serve for a term of three years.

Rules and Regulations of the

The Auxiliary Members are appointed by the Chairman under the authority of the State Committee, to serve during the continuance in office of the Chairman.

ARTICLE II.

OFFICERS.

The officers of the Committee consist of a chairman, vice-chairman, a secretary, a treasurer, a sergeant-at-arms, with the duties usually pertaining to these offices. Only the regular members and Members-at-Large may vote for or participate in the election of officers.

The Chairman and Vice-Chairman shall be elected by the Committee at its annual meeting in August in Presidential years, and shall serve for a term of four years and until their successors are elected. The Secretary, Treasurer and Sergeant-at-Arms shall be appointed by the Chairman.

ARTICLE III.

COMMITTEE.

The permanent committees of the State Committee shall be an Executive Committee and a Finance Committee, who shall be appointed by the Chairman.

Republican State Committee

The Executive Committee shall be appointed from members of the State Committee.

The Finance Committee may or may not be members of the State Committee.

The Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the State Committee shall be ex-officio members of the Executive Committee; and the Chairman and Treasurer of the State Committee shall be ex-officio members of the Finance Committee.

ARTICLE IV.

VACANCIES.

Any vacancies in the regular membership, from whatever cause, may be filled for the unexpired term by the State Committee, upon the recommendation of the County Committee of the county where the vacancy occurs.

ARTICLE V.

MEETINGS.

There shall be four stated meetings of the State Committee; namely, in August, November, February and May.

Other meetings may be called at the discretion of the Chairman. The place of the stated meetings shall be at the Committee's headquarters; and the time of all meetings and the place of meetings other than stated meetings shall be determined by the Chairman.

Rules and Regulations of the ARTICLE VI.

DUTIES AND POWERS.

It shall be the duty of the State Committee to generally supervise and direct the gubernatorial and national campaigns; to aid in the election of the Republican candidates and to perform any service that may promote the success of the Republican party in the State.

The State Committee shall designate the time and place of holding all State conventions, and shall give at least thirty days' notice of the same. Where the primary law does not designate the time for holding the primaries for selecting delegates to the State conventions the State Committee shall designate the day for holding such primaries, and the rules under which they shall be held.

It shall determine the basis of representation for delegates to State conventions except where the same is regulated by law.

Where the prima facie right to seats in a State convention is not regulated by law, the State Committee shall have the power to so determine and to pass upon contests, subject to an appeal to the convention itself.

In cases where delegates to State conventions are elected under the rules of the State Committee, the credentials of such delegates shall be filed with the State Committee within two days after the day of the primaries. From these credentials the State Committee shall make up the roll of delegates who are entitled to seats in the convention. Such roll shall be prepared within four days after the day of the primaries, except in cases of contests, as hereinafter provided; and copies of such roll for each county shall be sent to each member of the State Committee for that county at once, upon its completion.

In case the legality of the election of any delegate or of any set of delegates in any county is contested on any ground whatever, such contestant or contestants shall file their protest with the State Committee within two days after the primary. The Committee shall then meet forthwith to hear such contests, as a committee of the whole or through a subcommittee, at its discretion; and shall have power to summon witnesses and call for such papers and other evidence as it deems necessary to an impartial judgment in the case.

The decision of the Committee shall give the successful claimant a prima facie right to a seat in the convention. The right of appeal to the convention shall, in no wise, be questioned.

ARTICLE VII.

TEMPORARY ORGANIZATION OF STATE CONVENTIONS.

The State Committee shall nominate all temporary officers of the State convention.

Official Platform of the Platform Adopted by the Republican State Convention at Trenton, Tuesday, September 20, 1910

—o—

The Republican party, in convention assembled, heartily approves the administration of President William H. Taft, and we affirm our loyalty to the President, who has brought to the duties of his great office the highest ability and loftiest patriotism.

We commend to the people of this State the results of the labors of the Congress just adjourned, which has passed more measures which contribute to the benefit and development of the country than any other Congress since the organization of the republic.

We especially commend the tariff. The tariff question involves three great principles—the development of American industries and the protection of American labor; a revenue to provide for the expenses of the government, and the making of the United States independent as against the world for the provision of everything that enters into the question of national defense. The tariff law of the last Congress provides for all these in ample way, and as one of the immediate results it has changed a deficit of $58,000,000 into a surplus of $28,000,000.

We indorse the action of President Taft and a Republican Congress in providing an expert and impartial permanent tariff board to investigate tariff schedules, with a view to a just correction of any inequalities and to relieve the country from political tariff agitation so disastrous to prosperity.

We heartily indorse the administration of Governor John Franklin Fort, and approve the wise, progressive and successful legislation enacted by the Republican Legislatures during the term of his office.

True to the pledge of three years ago, the Republican party has enacted into law a sane and effective public utilities statute for the proper regulation of quasi-public corporations. It is a measure of regulation—not of administration or confiscation. It confers wide powers. It has been approvingly referred to by the press of the country as being the best exponent of this class of legislation thus far developed. The expense of the commission created by it is moderate, and in keeping with the traditions of the State in reference to such matters. The new commission has begun its labors and is working smoothly and effectively.

We favor a statute giving the Public Utilities Commission the power to fix just and reasonable rates to be charged by public utility corporations.

We approve the policy of conservation announced by the President, and we believe, in so far as it is possible, the principles which government that policy for the nation should apply to the State.

We believe in the principle that an industry ought to bear the cost of personal injuries sustained in the business. A Republican Legislature and Governor placed the first employers' liability law on the statute books of New Jersey, and they have also provided for additional legislation on the subject by the creation of an active and efficient commission, to report by bill at the next session of the Legislature. We pledge the party to a passage of a law carrying out the foregoing principle.

We believe in the enactment of a civil service law that shall provide for the permanent employment of officials so long as they discharge the duties of their positions in a creditable manner, to the satisfaction of their immediate superiors in office.

We favor such election and primary laws as will make the decision of the people at the elections and primaries easy of expression and sure of execution, and that the election machinery created shall be such that at the primaries all contesting candidates shall be represented fairly and impartially, and that by enrollment or otherwise the primaries of each party shall be confined to the membership thereof. We favor the election of all delegates to conventions under the primary laws of the State.

We heartily indorse the policy inaugurated

by the Republican party of using all revenue from automobile licenses for the repair and maintenance of our splendid system of improved roads, and we advocate such legislation with respect to automobiles as shall be just alike to the automobilists and to the taxpayers of the State, and also properly promote the reciprocal relations between this and other States with respect to the use of their respective highways by non-resident automobilists.

We favor the wise and beneficial development of the commerce of the State, and to that end we pledge ourselves to the continuance of the policy of the construction and maintenance of our public highways and inland waterways, and we approve the policy of federal aid in the improvement of our adjacent interstate waterways.

Fifteen years ago the Republicans of this State, appalled by the widespread corruption under Democratic administration, placed the Republican party in control, and have continued it in power since that time. The results have been greatly to the advantage of the State in administrative and legislative accomplishment, and demonstrate the wisdom of a further continuance of Republican power and responsibility.
